

INDEX TO VOL. L.

ADV

ADVANCING Criticism on the Bible, 106 sqq.: the attitude of this Review towards the works of the Higher Critics, 107; Dr. Cheyne's Encyclopædia Biblica: unconscious testimony to the transitory value of critical 'results,' 108; its 'uncompromisingly progressive spirit,' 109; the arrangement of the work, 110; criticism of some of the 'prolegomena' articles: Schmiedel on the Acts of the Apostles, ib.; Dr. Cheyne on Amos and on Canticles, 112; articles on Chronicles, Daniel, and Deuteronomy, 113; notice of Professor Benner's articles, and also of his (and Professor Adeney's) work entitled Biblical Introduction, 114; the biographical articles in the Encyclopædia Biblica: Dr. Cheyne on Adam and Eve, 115; his article on David, and his work on The Christian Use of the Psalms, 116; parts of the Psalms are 'displeasing or even offensive': 'we must glide over' these 'with an inward protest,' 117, 119; his objections to various 'proper' Psalms, ib.; especially to Ps. xxiv. (Ascension Day), as also to the Ascension Festival itself, 118; he looks forward to a fresh supply of Canticles from a new 'class of inspired poets,' 119; an example of 'advanced scholarship,' 120; extraordinary critical theories embedded in some of the best articles on Geography and Antiquities, ib.; articles on Biblical Theology, and on ecclesiastical subjects, 122

BOO

BELLORD, Rev. J., Meditations on Christian Dogma, 512
 Benson, Archbishop, The Life of (the work of his son), 169 sqq.: Dr. Benson's boyhood, 197; his education under Prince Lee, 198; his heart set on taking Holy Orders: difficulties, 199; University life and friends, 200; his religious convictions tested, 201; unexpected help, 202; scholastic successes: Headmaster of Wellington College, 202; his conduct thereof, 203; Chancellor and Canon of Lincoln: the Essays and Reviews controversy, 205; development of his character: Bishop of Truro, 206; condition of the diocese: the Diocesan Conference, 207; building of Truro Cathedral, 208; death of his eldest son, 209; made Archbishop of Canterbury, 210; important questions discussed or decided during his primacy, ib.; largely successful in promoting ecclesiastical reform, 211; the Lincoln judgment, 212; the Archbishop's action and policy regarding the Colonial Church, 215; the Colenso case, 216; the attempt to disestablish the Church in Wales, 217; breadth of his views on Church policy, 219; his desire for a Council to advise and help the Primate of All England, 220; obiter dicta of his diary, 221; his death, 222; his personal character, 223
 Blyth, Rev. F. C., The Parable of the Great Supper, 493 Book of Common Prayer, The History of the (Rev. Leighton Pullan's work), 395 sqq.: the

BRO

- work compared with predecessors on the same subject, 395; Mr. Pullan's method, 397; his opinions of the First Prayer Book and the Second, ib.; on Baptism, Sacramental Confession and Absolution, 398; defence of English Ordination, 399; some blemishes in Mr. Pullan's work: the Eucharist, ib.; Confirmation, vestments, modern devotion, 400; slips on liturgical matters, 401; the Savoy Conference, 402; Bishop Cosin's influence on the English Prayer Book, 403; the first Nonjuring Prayer Book, 404
- Brown, Mr. W., The Tabernacle and its Services, described and considered in relation to Christ and the Church, 513

- CARTER, Rev. Canon, The Spirit of Watchfulness, 247
- Catenæ, Greek, of the Old Testament, 29 sqq.: development of the study of Catenæ, 29; meaning of the word Catena, 31; classes of Catenæ, 32; their objects: doctrinal, moral, exegetical, 33; varying value of the older collections, 34; MSS. of Catenæ, 35; of the Greek Old Testament: historical books, 36; poetical books: the Psalms and Proverbs, 38; the Song of Songs, 39; Job, 40; the Prophets: Isaiah, Jeremiah, 41; Ezekiel, Daniel, 42; Minor Prophets, 43; difficulties in the way of estimating the value of Catenæ: authority as depending on age, &c., ib.; the recovery of the text of patristic writings, 44; advantages of overcoming them, 45; unedited Catenæ, 46; value of their text, ib.; instigation to the study of Catenæ, 47
- Church and Faith* (Essays by various writers; Introduction by Bishop of Hereford), 228
- Church Dedications, Studies in* (Miss F. Arnould-Forster's work), 370 sqq.: excellence of the work, 371; the number of dedication names,

CRA

- 373; Miss Forster's method, 374; sources of her information, 375; dedications to the Deity, 376; the Angels, the Blessed Virgin, St. Peter and St. Paul, the two St. Johns, 377; other Scriptural saints, traditional saints, 'St. Margaret,' 378; martyrs, soldier saints, medical saints, the Fathers, 379; Popes, English archbishops, bishops, abbots, and monks, 381; Irish, Scotch, and Welsh saints, English kings and ladies of high degree, Scandinavian saints, 382; the 'blessed company' which meets the Christian pilgrim in the services of the Church, 383
- Church Quarterly Review*, Twenty-five years of the, 265 sqq.: the object of its founders, 265; its principles displayed in the first number, 266; promotion of learning and criticism, 267; doctrinal and textual studies on the Holy Scriptures, 268; the Revised Version, 269; the criticism of the Old Testament, 270; articles on the 'Higher Criticism,' 271; on the Incarnation, 272; on the Divine Knowledge of our Lord, 273; on works relating to the Papal claims, 274; validity of Anglican Orders, 275; Catholic position of the Church of England, 276; indissoluble character of Christian marriage, ib.; education and Christian morality, 277; biography, University reform, 278; theological belief and practice, 279; Confession and the Holy Eucharist, 280; miscellaneous subjects treated, 281; the Review's aim to maintain that which is true and that which is right, ib.
- Church, The, Past and Present* (by various writers: ed. Rev. H. M. Gwatkin), 226
- Craufurd, Rev. A., Christian Instincts and Modern Doubt: Essays and Addresses in Aid of a Reasonable, Satisfying, and Consolatory Religion, 245
- Crawford, Mr. F. Marion, Via Crucis, 251

DAR

D'ARCY, Rev. C. F., Idealism and Theology: a Study of Presuppositions, 238

Daubney, Rev. W. H., The Use of the Apocrypha in the Christian Church, 503

De Lisle, Ambrose Phillipps (the Life and Letters by Mr. Purcell and Mr. E. De Lisle), 307 sqq.: the 'Eustace Lyle' of Coningsby, 309; De Lisle's early youth, 311; how he was drawn to Rome: a vision, 311; his perversers, 312; his lifelong aspirations for England's return to Rome, 313; at Cambridge, 314; foundation of Mount St. Bernard's Abbey: a criticism of the ideal Trappist life, 317; De Lisle's design fostered by Mark Caricchia's 'prophecies': a Crusade of Prayer, 320; De Lisle's encouragement of the Oxford Movement, 321; relations with its leaders, 322; abetted by Wiseman, 323; Newman corrects De Lisle's estimate of the position, 324; a strange proposal from Mr. Bernard Smith, 326; De Lisle's influence on Newman very slight, 328; a death-blow to his plan of Corporate Reunion: failure of the Association for Promoting the Unity of Christendom, 330; the proposed Roman Catholic College, under Newman, at Oxford: defeated by Manning, 333; De Lisle's attitude towards Papal Infallibility, 334; De Lisle as an intermediary: between Gladstone and Newman on Vaticanism, 336; between Gladstone and Manning on the Bulgarian atrocities, 338; Gothic v. Italian architecture, 339; De Lisle's death, 341; appreciation of his life and character, 342

Donne, John, Life and Letters of (Mr. Gosse's work), 91 sqq.: Works on the same subject by Dr. Jessopp and Dean Alford, 92; Walton's famous study, 93; editions of Donne's poems, ib.; no satisfactory edition of the prose works, 94; Mr. Gosse's difficult task, ib.; the biographical portion of the work, 95; the mystery of Donne's character, 96; 'irregularities' of his lay life, 97; appreciation of his poetry, 97; his marriage: account of his wife, 99; friendship with Lady Bedford, 100; a 'sympathy of souls' story, 101; his religious and ecclesiastical career, ib.; popularity as a preacher, 102; character of his sermons, 103; his preparation for death, and his last sermon, 104; his monument in St. Paul's, 105; estimate of Donne as a theologian, ib.; his personal appearance, 106

EVO

Dowden, Bishop (Edinburgh), The Workmanship of the Prayer Book, in its Literary and Liturgical Aspects, 499

EVE of the Reformation, The (Dr. Gasquet's work), 405 sqq.: object of the work, 405; Dr. Gasquet's sketch of the 'Revival of Letters in England', 406; criticism of his interpretation of the term 'New Learning', as used to denote 'the novel religious teachings of Luther and his followers', 407 sqq.; Erasmus cited against this view, 411; Egmond's attack on Erasmus, 413; the contest between clergy and laity: debate between Saint-Germain and Sir T. More, 414; Dr. Gasquet's treatment of 'the discussions raised on the question of mixed jurisdiction', 415; detailed criticism thereof, 418 sqq.; the 'borderland of debatable ground between the two jurisdictions', 422; the 'Submission of the Clergy' (1532), 425; the 'borderland of debatable ground' and 'the two jurisdictions' of Dr. Gasquet really express the theory which obtains in modern times, 426; how this theory was developed, 426 sqq.

Evolution and Religion (Professor H. R. Marshall's Instinct and Reason), 157 sqq.; general character and aim of Professor Marshall's work, 157; statement of scientific evolution, 158; his discussion of Parallelism, a theory of the relation of mind and body, 159; the mechanical theory, 161; 'Mentality,' a 'psychic somewhat' coincident with every neural activity, ib.; resultants and drawbacks, 163; the author's plea for religion as an outcome of Instinct—the inherited experience of our ancestors, 164; the function of the Instinct, 165; the preservation of the life of the individual, of the species, of the social group, 168; the function of Religion, 169; emotions and activities, 170; the author's conception of Reason, 172; relation of Reason and Will, 173; Reason getting beyond its depths: the results on Society and Morality, 173 sq.; the author's views on various religious practices: the value of prayer, 177; the Society of evolution, 178; Conscience, 179; the growth of the State, 181

EVO

Evolution, Biology, and Human Guidance (Dr. Mackintosh's: From Comte to Benjamin Kidd), 343 sqq.: the author's views of High Churchmen and the Christian ministry, 344; criticism of his claim that Science now takes better care of morality than Religion has done, 345; the sociology of Comte's system, 346; the view that history in general is a self-realization of God, 348; that the laws of physical existence control the human creature, 349; estimate of evolution as Darwin thought of it, 350; the result of refusing to acknowledge God, 351; the office assigned to religion by Mr. Kidd, 352; the presence and power of religion among the suffering class, 353

FARRAR, Very Rev. Dean, Great Books, 523
Force of Love, The (Memoir of Archdeacon Scott), 258

JOH

GENT, (the late) Rev. G. W., Papers and Essays, 240
Green, Rev. W. H., General Introduction to the Old Testament: the Canon, 234
Greenwood, Rev. G., The Book of Genesis treated as an Authentic Record, 504
Gurnhill, Rev. J., The Morals of Suicide, 506

HALL, Bishop (Vermont), Confirmation (Oxford Library of Practical Theology), 483
Hamilton, Sir E. W., Mr. Gladstone, a Monograph, 260
Harrison, Rev. A. R., Christ and Our Own Time (Sermons), 516
Henson, Rev. H. H., Ad Rem: Thoughts for Critical Times in the Church, 250
Holmes, Mr. A. H., Quinford, 253
Howard, Rev. G. B., Rise and Progress of Presbyterianism, 509
Hulton, Mr. S. F., The Primacy of England, 257
Hunt, Mr. W., The English Church from its Foundation to the Norman Conquest, 508
Hutton, Rev. R. E., The Crown of Christ, 501

JACOPONE DA TODI, 443
sqq.: religion in Italy in the thirteenth century, 443; contradictory currents, 443; Francis of Assisi and his work, 444; Jacopone da Todi's early life: his conversion, 447; self-humiliation: was he a madman? ib.; becomes a Franciscan, 448; account of his poems, 450; specimens: 'The Presepio,' 451; 'Piange la Chiesa,' 453; the 'Stabat Mater' attributed to him, 454; satires against Boniface VIII., 455; Jacopone imprisoned by the Pope, 456; release, 457; death, 458
Johnson, Dr., Memorials of, 355 sqq.: Mr. Barker's Chancellor's English Essay on Johnson: points in which he differed from his literary contemporaries, 357; his truth, sincerity, and honesty,

JOW

- 358; the Johnson Club Papers: on the transmission of Dr. Johnson's personality, 359; 'Dr. Johnson as a Grecian,' 360; 'Boswell's Proof-Sheets,' 361; on some of Johnson's characteristics, ib.; his relation to music and politics, 362; his correspondence, 363; Mr. Secombe's The Age of Johnson, 364; Johnson's Sermons, 365; their 'power of thinking and style,' 366; his Prayers and Meditations, 368; an Anglican of the High Church school, 369
- Jowett, Benjamin, Master of Balliol College, Oxford, Letters of (ed. by Evelyn Abbott and Lewis Campbell), 263

KINGSBURY, (late) Rev. T. L., Spiritual Sacrifice and Holy Communion (Sermons), 489

- LONDON, Bishop of, The Church and the Nation (his primary Charge), 223
- Luckock, Very Rev. Dean, The Special Characteristics of the Four Gospels, 497
- Lytelton, Bishop (Southampton), The Place of Miracles in Religion (Hulsean Lectures for 1891), 494

MARCH, ROSA E., Where Two Worlds Meet, 517

- Mathews, Prof. Shailer, A History of New Testament Times in Palestine, 175 B.C.-70 A.D., 242
- Milman, Mr. A., Henry Hart Milman, D.D., Dean of St. Paul's, 248
- Mivart, Dr., and Continuity, 182 sqq.: his 'destructive apologetics,' 182; on the scientific freedom of Roman Catholics, despite Papal decrees, 183; his acceptance of the results of the 'Higher Criticism' ignored by ecclesiastical authority, 184; his article on 'Happiness in Hell,' 185; some of his propositions condemned by the Inquisition and Index: his submission, 186; the article, 'Christianity and

NEW

Paganism:' the Catholicity and Authority of the Roman Church, 187; his rejection of the claims of the Anglican Church to Continuity, 188; real object of this attack, 189; 'The Continuity of Catholicism:' 'an insistence on incredible and incomprehensible dogmas,' 190; this Continuity in the Roman Church has permitted some vast and vital changes, 191; states that that Church can tolerate a form of Polytheism, 192; also the belief that the Resurrection is a legend, 193; and adopt a modified view of our Lord's Virginal Conception, 194; an incomprehensible position, ib.; action of Cardinal Vaughan, 195; the end of Dr. Mivart, 196

NASH, Professor H. S., Ethics and Revelation, 491

Naturalism and Agnosticism (Professor Ward's Gifford Lectures, 1896-98), 124 sqq.: influence of Natural Science and Mathematics on Philosophy, 124; in Professor Ward's work the whole problem of Natural Philosophy is approached from the point of view of Psychology, 125; style of the work, 126; its object and argument, 127; Naturalism fought on its own ground: argument against the mechanical theory, 128; Spencer's theory of evolution, 130; biological evolution, 131; theory of psycho-parallelism, 132; Professor Ward's criticism of cases of misuse of the empirical results of Science by scientific writers, 134; Agnosticism: the problem of our knowledge of the external world, 136; Dualism, ib.; the various forms of Monism, 137; the teleological character of Nature, 138; spiritualistic Monism, 139; the work is a valuable contribution to the philosophy of Theism, 140

Newbolt, Rev. Canon, Words of Exhortation (Sermons), 231; The Dial of Prayer, 502

CEC

ECUMENICAL Documents of the Faith, The (edited &c. by Rev. T. H. Bindley), 505
 O'Neill, Rev. J. L., Why, When, How and What we ought to read, 522
 Orr, Rev. J., Neglected Factors in the Study of the Early Progress of Christianity, 244
Oxford Leaders, Five Great (Canon Donaldson's work), 48 sqq.: what the Oxford Movement owed to the old English Catholic party, 49; clerical life in country parishes: Keble, 50; his leading characteristics, 51; Newman: his strong grasp on the spiritual and supernatural, 53; treatment of abuses in the Papal system, 54; what Newman did for the Church of Rome, 55; Pusey: study and use of patristic writings, 56; Liddon: attitude towards the 'Higher Criticism,' 58; courage and consistency, 60; Dean Church: compared with Dr. Liddon, 61; his culture, thoroughness, and depth of reading, 62; general estimate of the work of the 'five great leaders,' 63

PALMER, Rev. E. R., Christ the Substitute, 514
 Parson's Garden, the edge of a, 63 sqq.: the country parson's opportunities and difficulties in his garden, 64; useful aid supplied by Mrs. Earle's Pot-Pourri, 65; how to learn gardening, 66; useful practical hints, 67; the legend of 'Crown Imperials,' ib.; the uses of common things, 68; gardening materials, 69; Mr. Bright's pleasant and useful Year in a Lancashire Garden, 70; a valuable new edition of Johnson's Gardener's Dictionary, 71; lucid and practical works on fruit-growing: Mr. S. T. Wright's Fruit Culture for Amateurs, and Mr. J. Wright's Profitable Fruit-growing for Cottagers &c., 72; helps towards the knowledge of the proper nourishment of plants and trees: Mr. Cousins's The Chemistry of the Garden, 73; useful advice on the culture of common fruits and vegetables: the S.P.C.K.'s Helpful Hints for Hard Times, ib.; a valuable work on bulb-growing: Mr. R. Sydenham's How I came to Grow Bulbs, 74; the spiritual side of gardening, ib.; views of Lord Bacon (Of Gardens) and John Flavel (Husbandry Spiritualized), 75; advice to the young gardener, 77; Miss Jekyll's Wood and Garden and Home and Garden, 77 n.

RES

Poets' Walk (ed. M. Morris), 516
 Pusey, Dr., as a Correspondent and a Spiritual Guide, 282 sqq.: a striking characteristic of Pusey's letters, 282; his spiritual letters, 283; criticism of Mr. Johnston and Canon Newbolt's edition of these, 284; examples of Pusey's methods, 286; his frank love of being appreciated, 288; his treatment of self-consciousness compared with that of Keble, ib.; Pusey's attitude towards Confession, 290; fasting Communion, 291; denunciation of those who treat non-fasting Communion as mortal sin, 295; Inspiration, 296; advice to doubters in questions affecting the Faith, 297; on sins of sensuality, 299; advice to those who aspired to the celibate life in Communities, 300; 'Vocation,' 302; the Unity of the Church, 303; advice to Anglicans who had doubts about Rome, 304; on controversial books, 305; the teaching of the Church, as against Romans and Puritans alike, 306
 Pye, Mr. H. J., The Course of Conscience, 514

RAGEY, LE PÈRE, Études d'histoire religieuse: Les Missions Anglicanes, 236
 Randolph, Rev. B. W., Meditations on the Old Testament for every Day in the Year, 524 Reservation, The Archbishops on,

RIP

- 459 sqq.; Archbishop of Canterbury's pronouncement, 460; the teaching of the 28th Article, 461; Reservation leads to doctrinal abuses, 462; the question about the communion of the sick, 463; fasting communion, 464; Archbishop of York: as to the antiquity of the practice, 465; the questions of legality, 466; of desirability of reviving the custom, 469; of communion of the sick, 470; views of leading organs of the press on the two Opinions, 471; position taken by Lord Halifax and Mr. Riley, 472; the attitude of recalcitrant clergy, 474; the basis of the real force of the Archbishops' declarations, 475; position of the Bishops, ib.; doctrinal position of Reservation, 476; the lawfulness of Eucharistic adoration, 477
- Ripon, The Bishop of, on the Church of England (his A Popular History of the Church &c.), 385 sqq.: a good orator not usually a good historian, 385; defects of this History criticized, 386; disproportioned treatment of the pre-Reformation and post-Reformation periods, 387; omissions of important matters, ib.; errors of statement, 388; inaccuracies in the modern part, 389; Cromwell's 'religious toleration,' 391; James II. and Magdalen College, Oxford, ib.; the doctrine of the Nonjurors, 392; the writings of William Law, 393; John Wesley, 394
- Romanes, Ethel, Thoughts on the Collects for the Trinity Season, 511
- Ryle, Bishop (Liverpool), The Christian Race, and other Sermons, 502

- SALMON, Rev. Dr., Cathedral and University Sermons, 486
- Stone, Rev. Darwell, Outlines of Christian Dogma, 480
- Stubbs, Very Rev. Dean, Charles Kingsley and the Christian Social Movement, 262

THA

- 'TESTAMENT of our Lord, The,' 1 sqq. (see also No. xcix. 273-292): further discussion of its date, 1; its ordinances are later than the Canons of Hippolytus, 2; its connexion with the school of Apollinarius of Laodicea, 3; arguments from: the name of the book and its meaning, 4; the 'third Testament' of Apollinarius, 5; the locality in which the book originated, ib.; controversial motive of the author, 6; the book's account of its writing and transmission, 7; arguments from the special matter in it: (1) the Apocalyptic prelude: notes of locality in its treatment of Antichrist, 8; its mention of 'singing praises' associated with Apollinarius's poetical works, 10; the Testament's date is after A.D. 362, 11; (2) the Description of a church: the details paralleled with those of the Constitutions, 13; (3) the Type of Doctrine: account of Apollinarius and his doctrines, 13; his fundamental proposition concerning the Incarnation, 14; his defence of it, 15; weak points in his character, 16; the fraudulent spirit which infected his school, 17; the Creed of the Testament, 18; compared with that of the Canons of Hippolytus, 19; the 'Mystagogic Instruction': suggestions of Apollinarian doctrines, 21; the Testament's interpolations in various prayers: ordinations, 22; the Eucharistic anaphora, 23; excessive anti-Arian tendencies, 25; Apollinarian view of Holy Communion, 26; striking phrases in the Testament's prayers, 27; final observations as to its date, 28; general appreciation of the Testament, 29
- Thackeray, William Makepeace, 78 sqq.: the varying stages of morality in the older and the later novels, 79; Mr. Leslie Stephen's notice of Thackeray in the Dictionary of National Bio- graphy, and Mrs. Ritchie's Biographical Introductions to her father's works, 80; weak points in Mr. Lewis Melville's Life of Thackeray, 81; Mr. Anthony Trollope's meagre monograph ('English Men of Letters' Series), ib.; the Life by Mr. Herman Merivale and Mr. Frank Marzials: 'the two key-secrets of Thackeray's great life,' 82; his religion, 83; the really religious characters of his novels, ib.; satire of 'Clerical Snobs,' 84; his Doctor Portman and Frank Whitestock, 85; 'Country Snobs' and the persecution of the Puseyites, 86; his appreciation of the difficulties of a clergyman, ib.; Thackeray's own blameless life, love of goodness in others, and attraction to the Saviour, 87; the other 'key-secret:' the disappointed man, slow progress to success, 88; story of Vanity Fair, 89; Pendennis, Esmond, and The Newcomes, and after, ib.; projected historical works, 90; some of Thackeray's weak points, 90 sq.

TYP

Typical English Bishop, A (Dean Stephens's Memoir of Richard Durnford, D.D., sometime Bishop of Chichester), 141 sqq.: influence of the Bishop's father on his son, 142; school, college, and university life, 143; ordination, 144; exceptional knowledge of the home life, literature, and languages of Continental countries, ib.; Rector of Middleton, Lancashire, ib.; energetic parochial work, 145; his influence over his parishioners, 146; Archdeacon of Manchester, 147; nomination to the see of Chichester, ib.; a season of exceptional difficulty and anxiety: the Public Worship Regulation Act (1874), 148; his second Visitation Charge: his attitude towards the Act, 149; his straightforwardness, 150; his view regarding Confession, 151; details of his episcopal administration, 152; free churches, 153; views on disestablishment and disendowment, ib.; Reservation of the Holy Sacrament, 154; fasting Communion, and non-communicating attendance, 155; his personal charm, 156

WOR

UNSET Jewels: being Simple Thoughts for the Christian Year (selections from MSS. of the late Rev. A. Williamson), 521

VINCENT, Rev. M. R., A History of the Textual Criticism of the New Testament, 232

WARD, Mrs. Wilfrid, One Poor Scruple, 255

Whipple, Bishop (Minnesota), Lights and Shadows of a Long Episcopate, 429 sqq.: some faults in the work, 430; the Bishop's early career, 431; election to the diocese of Minnesota, ib.; the character of the Indian community in his diocese, 432; their treatment by the Government, 433; rising of the Sioux (1862), 434; action of the Bishop, 435; character of Indian converts, 436; harvest of seed sown by the Bishop, 437; the Negro question, 438; the Bishop's diocesan educational institutions, 439; his theology, 440; his visits to England: the Lambeth Conference of 1888, 441

Wilson, Bishop (Sodor and Man), Maxims of Piety and of Christianity ('Engl. Theol. Libr.'), 518

Workman, Rev. H. B., The Church of the West in the Middle Ages, 510 straight-view re-details

tration,
; views
disenn of the fasting mmunihis per-

Simple Christian ISS. of amson),

A His-criticism
32

One Poor

mesota),
a Long
he faults
Bishop's on to the ib.; the n com-
; their rnment, (1862),
pp, 435 ;
onverts,
own by Negro pp's diostitutions, his visits
ch Con-

l Man),
f Chris-Libr.'),

*Church
le Ages,*